SOCIETY

Next week will be one of more than usual activity. The fireworks will begin Tuesday afternoon, when the suffrage convention opens at Representative hall. The two sessions of the convention will occupy the afternoon and evening. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. F. W. Watson will have an at home for Mrs. Eustace Brown, of Olathe, who will be her guest all next week. Thursday afternoon Mrs. H. A. Scandrett, Mrs. J. Burt, and Miss Scandrett, will give a formal reception at the Topeka club for Mrs. Benjamin Scandrett, who came to Topeka last autumn as the bride of Mr. Scandrett, and who has been entertained at informal parties from time to time during the winter, but who has not yet been formally introduced to friends of the Scandrett family here. The Kansas Woman's Press club will be in convention Thursday and Friday, and a banquet at the Mills Tea room Friday evening. Some out of town guests are expected for the convention. Among them: Miss Kate Adams of Chicago, formerly of Topeka, and Mrs. Don Carlos of Lawrence, who spent part of the winter here. Monday afternoon Mrs. D. C. Nellis will be at home for her guests, Mrs. J. P. St. John of Olathe, Mrs. H. P. Graham of Cottonwood Falls, and Mrs. A. Wilson of Valencia, and also for Mrs. Eustace Brown of Olathe, who is Mrs. Watson's guest. There will be the usual number of card club meetings, and the colleges will give a number of their spring recitals during the week.

Mrs. Rousseau A. Burch entertained her card club at a bridge-luncheon Friday, with a guest table for Mrs. E. A. Wilson of Los Angeles, Cal., who has been visiting her this week. Mrs. Wilson will leave tonight for her home in California. She intended going to Maine to spend a few months at her former home, but she has just received word that her grandfather was run over by an automobile and seriously injured; so she will return home instead of continuing her trip east.

A smart little morning frock is this, composed of plain and striped gingham in pretty shades of blue. The sides and back of the skirt and the upper part of the bodice are of the plain gingham with collar, sleeve bandings and cravat of the stripe. The panel at the front of the skirt comes up on the bodice in wing effect and is knotted at the waistline. There is a deep band of the striped gingham which borders the skirt on either side of the center panel and is trimmed with white crocheted buttons. Smart toque of white with narrow blue velvet bandings and novel blue feather.

Miss Metta Legler, who has been at the head of the department of music in Sayre college, Lexington, Ky., this year, will come to Topeka May 26, to be with her sister, Mrs. T. R. Paxton. Miss Legler has recently written two songs which are meeting with success. They are: "Drifting" and "The Music for Vendee's" "The Stream." Miss Legler spent a good deal of time in Topeka before leaving for the south, and frequently sang before audiences here. Her friends will be pleased to hear of her successful venture into the field of composition.

A pretty tub dress is sketched today. It is developed in natural color linen and trimmed in ecru embroidery and bands of brown linen. The kimono bodice has two wide pleats over the shoulders, the outer one formed of the embroidery while a row of buttons trims the inner pleat. The brown linen is used for the neck band, girdle and band on the short sleeve. There is an underlay of the embroidery. The narrow skirt is trimmed with a wide band of the embroidery placed between two narrow bands of the brown linen and decorated with brown crocheted buttons. Hat of natural color straw draped with brown veil.

One of the society women of Topeka has just had a gown completed for her that cost an even thousand dollars. As something that it will be worn at some social function of our village, I wonder how many can pick it out in a crowd of $200 dresses. Likewise, a young woman of the double E-T's is wearing a 50-cent one ring, and no one but the girl behind the counter who she made the purchase knows the difference unless she chooses to tell it.

One of the school girls, who is not yet "out," but still a school girl, has lately been the subject of a good deal of kindly comment by reason of her unusual musical ability. I refer to Miss Dorothy Barber, the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Barber. The older people who have known her parents since they came to Topeka five or six years ago, have been thinking of her as a little girl in pinafores, and they are finding it hard to realize that she is already an accomplished pianist, playing difficult music at recitals and private musicales with astonishing facility. Miss Barber is in high school, and studies music on the side, dividing her time between her practice and her studies, leaving little leisure to spend at party-going, even to the extent that social affairs occupy many girls of her age. She had an important place on the program of Professor Locke's recital at Washburn college last night, and was one of the most popular performers of the evening.

The Topeka Motor club left today at 1 o'clock for an automobile trip. The party will reach Leavenworth tonight for 7 o'clock dinner at Hurrell's, an Italian villa near Leavenworth. After dinner they will go to Kansas City and spend the night at the Baltimore, spend Sunday morning motoring in Kansas City, and return to Topeka Sunday evening. Mr. W. B. Stevenson, Mr. M. V. Kistler and Mr. W. H. Davis will go in the Stephenson car. Mr. George Badders, Mr. L. P. Garlinghouse and Mr. A. F. Colson will drive in Mr. Badders' car. Mr. W. W. Webb will take with him Mr. A. H. Purdy, Mr. E. A. Tirrell and Mr. Ward Speelman, and others who will go in their own machines are Dr. H. H. Keith, Dr. L. L. Goodwin, Mr. Arthur Wolf and Mr. Harry Wolf.

Mrs. DeWitte C. Nellis, whose regular at home days are the fifteenth and thirtieth of each month, will have with her next Monday as guests of honor Mrs. J. P. St. John and Mrs. Eustace Brown of Olathe, Mrs. P. H. Gresham of Cottonwood Falls and Mrs. A. Wilson of Valencia.

The Elwell Bridge club will meet Tuesday, May 23, with Mrs. W. G. Dickie.

The sophomore class of Washburn college had a party Friday night at the country home of Miss Mignon Logan, who is one of the members of the class. About fifty young people attended, and leaving the school at 6 o'clock, they "dined" to the country and had supper on the lawn at the Logan home. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Lane, Miss Bass and Miss Leavitt.

The program for the equal suffrage meeting to be held in Representative hall May 15 is as follows: Afternoon session at 2 o'clock. Address by Mrs. C. A. Hoffman, president. Reports of officers. Election of officers. Plans of work. Reading by Miss Eva Corning. Evening meeting at 8 o'clock. Greetings and introduction of speakers—Mrs. Hoffman. Address by Mr. William Allen White. Music by Ladies' quartet. Address by President H. J. Waters of the Agricultural college. Address by Dr. F. L. Loveland. Violin solo, Miss Jessie Waller. Closing words of cheer, Mr. John MacDonald. Introduction of new officers.

The Beta girls of Washburn college had a picnic this morning on one of the sand bars of the Kaw.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes gave a card party Friday night for the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Kline, Mrs. Edwin Davis, of Leavenworth, Mr. and Mrs. R. Shakeshaft, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. T. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Shakeshaft, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Eustace, Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Whitted, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell, Miss Gages, Mrs. W. H. Cushing, Mrs. Sable, Miss Jean Morrison and Dr. M. L. Bishop.

Miss Ethel Grant, a pupil of Mrs. E. C. Wilim, will give a piano recital in Washburn chapel at 8:15 o'clock, Monday evening, May 15. Miss Grant will be assisted by the Schubert quartette. The program follows: Sonata Pathétique.....Beethoven Grave Allegro Molto. Adagio Cantabile. Rondo. It Was a Lover With His Lass.....Walters Miss Marie Vanderpool and Miss Mabel Joss.

The Vignette club will meet Tuesday, May 16, with Mrs. H. A. Spielman, 1434 Polk street.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Ruby Phillips and Mr. Glenn Bramwell of Belleville, Kan. Miss Phillips was formerly a student at the Kansas university, and came from Burlington to Topeka about a year ago to make her home with her aunt, Miss Annie Phillips, 1306 Garfield avenue. Mr. Bramwell was also a University student, and is now assistant cashier of the Bellvue national bank, of which his father is president. The wedding will be quietly celebrated June 7, at the home of Miss Phillips' brother, Mr. F. D. Phillips.

The La Douzaine Whist club will meet Monday with Miss Alice Lakin.

Mrs. Torrence Ewart will entertain her bridge club Monday afternoon at her home, 422 West Sixth avenue.

Mrs. George Beach went to Kansas City this week to attend the graduation exercises of the university medical college. Her son, Dr. George Beach, was one of the graduates. Dr. Beach came to Topeka today to spend a short time with his parents, and afterwards will go to Ames, Ia., where he has accepted an appointment as assistant surgeon in the Santa Fe hospital.

Those who think that women have more fuss and worry about their parties than men do, have never watched the Saturday Night club prepare for their annual banquet.

The following is from an Oswego paper: "The Oswego Women's club gave a May day reception at the home of Mrs. F. W. Stout in honor of Mrs. W. A. McCarter and Mrs. Noble Prentiss of Topeka. The guests were received by Mrs. Stout and Mrs. Nelson Case. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. D. Atkinson, Mrs. Harry Gregory, Mrs. Kate Southwick, Mrs. Harry McGarver, all of Kansas, and Mrs. McCarter made an address on 'Self Improvement'."

"Mrs. R. O. Demming entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon Monday in honor of the visit of the city, Mrs. McCarter and Mrs. Prentiss. The other guests were Mrs. W. W. Roland, Mrs. Nelson Case, Mrs. F. W. Stout, Mrs. L. J. Van Alstine, Miss Beckel and Miss English. Baskets of sweet peas were given as favors."

The Ceramic Art club met Friday afternoon with Miss Marie Witwer and Mrs. J. K. Jones, at the home of Miss L. D. Whittemore. The club members gave a very interesting talk on Egypt, illustrated by beautiful pictures, giving descriptions of the art work belonging to that industrious race of people.

The Good Government club had a guest day Thursday afternoon at the Commercial club rooms. About a hundred women attended, and the addresses of the afternoon were especially interesting. Mrs. Lee Monroe, who has recently returned from a trip with the "dry farming" car through the western part of the state, told of her experience in connection with the tour. She was asked to accompany the party to make addresses to the women of the country on the importance of women's organizations, and to encourage them in forming clubs and taking up club study and work. Mrs. A. H. Horton's address at the meeting concerned club extension, and Mrs. Lillian Mitchell spoke of the purpose of the W. C. T. U. to work in the interests of equal suffrage. Mrs. Emma Sells Marshall told of the legislative work of the Good Gov. club. Mrs. Lucia Case's address was on the subject of why women should want to vote. Mrs. W. A. Johnston made a report of the country Federation held last week in Independence. Mrs. E. W. Murphy of Goodland, Kan., was a guest at the meeting and spoke briefly of conditions in her part of the state. Mrs. Harris, an officer of the Woman's Relief corps, who was present, was called upon to speak, and told the meeting of the intention of her organization to work for suffrage. In a discussion by the club and their guests, an adverse criticism was made of the action of the State Agricultural college in its encouragement of the growing of tobacco in Kansas. The club expressed itself as extremely unfavorable to the production of tobacco in the state. Miss Ernestine Kline gave some excellent readings.

EVENING CHAT

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Have you a definite personal ideal? It seems to me that every man and woman who has is the better for it. I fall to make myself plain? I simply mean that everyone should have besides an ideal of accomplishment, an embodied ideal in the shape of some human being whom he would like to resemble.

Admiration is the healthiest of human sentiments. Every strong admiration we feel for something good and fine lifts us a step nearer the infinite. The man who seldom sees anything in his fellow men to admire, knows that he is probably at an intellectual and moral standstill.

The man who is continually looking up, who usually gets up, not the man who doesn't believe there is anything up there worth looking at.

Now to admire character and ability in a general way is an excellent stimulant, but to focus one's admiration on some definite personality is to give this lever of admiration a vastly greater lifting power.

I don't believe there is a great man or woman today but could point to some other great man or woman and say: "Because he or she was so splendid I was helped to be what I am."

It is so easy to become concentrated on what one's self is doing, to think overmuch of what one has already accomplished, and to find progress-killing satisfaction in comparing one's achievements with what inferior men have done, instead of looking at them with the divine content that comes from comparing one's own performance with what really great men have done.

Now to fasten upon some person who has been really great in one's own particular line, to study him and admire him and love him, to remind one's self constantly of the pettiness of one's own achievements beside the greatness of his, is yet to be sinned by his courage into following determinedly, no matter at how great a distance, in the path which he trod and towards the goal which he reached—this is to make the sentiment of admiration the strongest possible lever of self-help.

If possible, select someone you not only admire, but for whom you have at least a touch of intellectual affinity—that is, someone whom you fancy you might have been congenial with and might have seen fit to make you of the great men.

Will you pardon the egotism if I illustrate by telling you who my own literary ideal is?—Charles Lamb.

Somewhat I feel as if, had I been mul-
